DYSPEPSIA.

It is misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a diseased stomach. The stomach is the reservoir from which every fibre and tissue must be nourished, and if it is diseased, the whole system suffers. Among a dozen dyspeptics no two will have the same predominant symptoms. Dyspepsia is an active mental power and a bilious temperament are subject to sick headache, those, fleshy and phlegmatic have Constipation, while the thin and nervous are abandoned to loosey forebodings. Some dyspeptics are wonderfully forgetful; others have irritability of temper. Whatever form Dyspepsia may take, one thing is certain,

The underlying cause is in the LIVER.

and one thing more is equally certain, no one will remain a dyspeptic who will

It will correct Acidity of the Stomach, Expel foul gases, Assist Digestion, and, at the same time, regulate the Liver.

Start the Liver to working, and all other troubles soon disappear.

"My wife was a confirmed dyspeptic. Some three years ago by the advice of Dr. Steiner, of Arizona, she was induced to try Simmons' Liver Regulator. I feel grateful for the relief it has given her, and may all who read this and are afflicted with chronic or otherwise, use Simmons' Liver Regulator and I feel confident health will be restored to all who will be advised."—W. BITS OF FUN.

A pleased old lady—Old Lady (to elderly bride on wedding trip)—That young man who just went into the smokin' car seems very fond o' you, ma'am.

Elderly bride—Ah, yes, John loves me most dearly!

Old Lady—It does my old heart good to see such affection these days; he's the only son ye got, ma'am!—Epoch.

"George," she said as the ham-mock sagged a little his way and a neighboring hand organ struck up a familiar tune, "George, darling, why was it the letter never came?" "I don't kn w, p e i o u s," said George, as his arm disappeared in the gloaming, "unless it was because Gallagher wouldn't let her go."

Married Grocer—What's that the a'y wants!

Clerk—She wants me to weigh her baby for her.

"All right; but tell her the youngster weighs about four pounds more than it does, or she'll swear our scales are doctored."

She Was Desperate.—"Darling," said he, tenderly, "I have made up my mind to ask you—to ask you—"

"Yes," she whispered breathlessly.

"To ask you to become my wife. I know, dearest, that it is bold, it is presumptuous for me to do so. You are so much superior to me. I am, I feel, unworthy of you, but—"

"Say no more, John. I am yours. You may be unworthy of me, but—"

"But what, dearest?"

"Half a loaf is better than no bread."

Major Smith—Colonel Jones, can you tell me where General Robinson got his military title?

Colonel Jones—Certainly sir. He was general ticket agent at Kalamazoo, Mich., for six years.

"One of the most comical things I've ever heard was told me in the Caucasus," said Dudley Winston, the young man who accompanied his father on the mission to Persia.

"It was in Tiflis, the capital of Georgia. You know there's an American store there—a big place of business where all sorts of Yankee notions are dealt out at an enormous profit, to the natives. I dropped in there. One of the objects of interest to which the Russian salesman directed my special attention was a patent potato peeler."

"Dees instrument," he said "sees medd by ze famous ous of Pat Aug. I was astonished."

"What house did you say?"

"Ze famous ouse of Pat Aug."

"Never heard of it," I said, "I guess you are mistaken."

"Meestecken! No sare. I have often heard of ze ouse, and I have often seen ze name of ze ouse. I will show him to you now. Oh, it is a firm which enjoys great fame here."

And with that he looks for a specimen potato peeler and brings one out.

"Zere sare," he says, "sees ze name engraved in ze metal. See?"

I burst out laughing until my sides ached. There was the legend; "Pat. Aug. 17, 1873." And the "Pat. Aug." part of it he had taken to be the firm's name. I found that the potato peeler was famous under the name of "Pat. Aug." all over the Caucasus.

Passenger—What's wrong! Brake man—The train behind us can't slow up. There'll be an awful collision. Passenger—And I'll be killed. That's just my luck. I was foolish enough to buy a return ticket.—N. Y. Sun.

A—Why does that woman on horseback wear a silk plug hat? B—To make the horse believe that she is a man, I suppose. A—"Guess not; if she was trying to fool the horse she wouldn't ride sideways."—Texas Sittings.

"Oh, papa," she said with a blush "young Mr. Chestnut, who owns so many coal mines in Pennsylvania, is coming again this evening, and he says he wants to see you on important business."

"All ri, hi, my dear," responded the old man, chuckling her playfully under the chin. "I guess I know what the young man wants."

That evening Mr. Chestnut came to the point at once.

"Mr. Hendricks," he said, boldly, "I want to ask you if you have laid in your winter's stock of coal?"—N. Y. Sun.

Kaolin.

The Florence Enterprise says that kaolin, an extremely valuable article of commerce, and used in the manufacture of fine porcelain, is found in Southern Arizona existing in large deposits of wonderful purity.

In Pima county there is an old mine of kaolin that was once utilized by the early Spanish missionaries and upon which a vast amount of development work was done. The product was transported by burros to the Gulf of California, where it was loaded upon vessels and taken to Spain. The old tunnels are now out of repair, but the deposit has suffered little in the amount of mineral taken therefrom. The time will come when this mine will possess great value.

Our Cattle Queens.

Our western range girls are thoroughbreds, when it comes down to any sort of "business"—counting, marrying, rounding-up or being rounded-up. One of these prairie pinkies who had been visited by a cowboy for nearly a year, became impatient at his failure to declare intentions, and when he next called she took him gently by the ear, led him to a seat and said: "Nobby, you've been foolin' 'round this claim for mighty near a year, an' hev never yit shot of yer mouth on the marryin' biz. I've cottoned to you on the square clean through an' hev stood off every galoot that has tried to chip in, an' now I want yer to come down to bizness or vamoose the ranch. Do the talk act or pull yer freight. Ef yer on the marry an' want a pard thet'll stick right to ye till yer pass in yer checks an' the good Lord calls ye over the range, just shoot yer wad an' we'll hitch; but if that haunt yer game draw out an' give some other feller a show for his pile. Now sing yer song or slope." He sung.—Ex.

A CARD.

Nearly two years of service as Justice of the Peace in Flagstaff, have convinced me that the glory of the position is by far the most important item of revenue, and forced upon me the conviction that the "one-term" policy would be especially adopted to my case. But as several gentlemen of both parties have asked me to be a candidate for re-election, I hereby inform my friends and the public generally that I shall be a candidate, and ask for the support of the generous people of Flagstaff. My past official record is an indication of what my policy will be if re-elected. GEO. H. TINKER.

Log Cabins can hardly be considered handsome or elegant, but they were fit habitations for the rugged pioneers of America.

Our ancestors were rugged specimens of noble manhood, complete in health, strength and endurance. Their wholesome remedies are reproduced to this later age, in Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla and Warner's Peppercane.

General News.

Portland's Postmaster declares that the missing $10,000 package left Portland all right, and must have been stolen in New York.

W. E. Talbot, one of the most prominent citizens and business men of Albuquerque, died on the 24th instant of inflammation of the bowels.

The shortage in the wheat crop of Great Britain, France and India is estimated at 90,000,000 bushels. American farmers take notice. This means better prices. Don't sell too soon.

Colonel J. D. Gillette, the cattle king of Illinois and one of the first exporters of fine beef cattle to England, died in Mackinaw, Michigan, on the 25th instant. He was worth $2,000,000.

Warren Carpenter, foreman of the Detroit and Rio Grande Cattle Company, was struck by lightning at Engel, N. M., last week while riding and both himself and horse were instantly killed.

The Mexican citizens of Florence, A. T., have made arrangements to celebrate their national holiday on the 16th of September, several hundred dollars having been raised for that purpose.

Chief Justice Fuller is the smallest man on the bench, being but five feet six inches tall and weighing 125 pounds. Associate Justice Gray is the largest, measuring six feet five inches in height and tipping the bar at nearly three hundred pounds.

Joe Elliott and Harvey Spear, wealthy cattlemen of Arlington, Texas, fought, one with a shotgun and the other with a Winchester. Thirty or forty shots were exchanged and Spear was killed and two bystanders were wounded.

Miss Nellie Gould is an artist of no mean ability and her collection of bric-a-brac adorned by her own brush and pencil is much admired. She is probably the richest heiress in America, and at her father's death will come in for $20,000,000 or $30,000,000.

Black measles of the most virulent type has broken out among the negroes on a rice plantation on the Santee river. Fifty deaths have already occurred. The disease is epidemic, and has created a panic that will doubtless cause a great loss in the harvest.

The Secretary of the Interior has sent to the Governor of Colorado, a little bill for some $29,000 for ponies and other valuables taken by the sheriff from Colorado and his band and never returned, with a polite note requesting the state to pay it as soon as convenient.

There have been twenty-two Presidents of the United States, five of whom were elected at 57 and six attained that great office before the age of 50. Three military men, past 60, have been elected. Two died very soon, and the other was General Jackson, and he was 61 when elected.

General Butler gives his reason for opposing free wool as follows: "I oppose free wool now, because if we admit it to the free list we can't keep our granger friends next year from taking off the tariff on the manufactured goods. Our tariff system has been carefully adjusted by long effort and the greatest care. We can't afford to pull any of the props from under it."

The New York Sun says that "President Cleveland has enhanced the ardor of the Democrats in charge of the national campaign by sending them his check for $10,000. A very cordial letter accompanied the President's contribution. The members of the Cabinet have also sent very liberal contributions. Altogether from the personal friends of the President in Washington, $150,000 has thus far been handed in."

It is a noteworthy fact that while the enumeration of General Sheridan's property includes $5,000 worth of swords, etc., the sword which the general carried all through the war, on which the record of his victories are engraved and which was the ceremony sword which lay upon his bier all through the obsequies, was purchased by him at the beginning of the war for $3 from another officer, who purchased it at an auction in Chicago for the same amount of money.—El Paso Tribune.
